Who Is In Control?

The mindset of humankind has the belief that something does not exist unless you can see it or touch it. Two of your five senses establish your reality. Your brain processes what you see, which is the belief in the statement "seeing is believing".

That's fine, but the first step of the process is in that your consciousness is the first to begin the manifesting process into that "seeing" in the form of matter, a physical "thing."

Nothing can be in thought or existence without the spiritual world flowing into the physical world. The consciousness of God, the consciousness of the universe and/or this world, and the consciousness of each created individual, is the beginning of the process.

The universe and earth itself has its own consciousness because creation is and from God. The oneness and collective consciousness of God-Creation and the Holy Spirit is creations consciousness allowing you to have your own life, your own individuality-conscience with perception from the individual through free will.

How you "see" and analyze things are totally up to you. If you allow the world, or another souls world to dictate what is your truth or what is a lie, its your free will choice. But when your flesh mind self is in control by way of the ego over your spiritual conscious self, your are not in control from a biblical perspective of life. If the balance between heaven and hell within you sides on the ways of negativity instead of the ways of goodness, your heaven and hell then who is in control? Therefore, heaven and hell exist within, as well as a "place" according to scriptures.

MJI (LightWorker)